MASH

TO SET UP:

Set up your video computer system and left and right joystick controllers as instructed in your manufacturer's owner's manual. Move the color B/W lever to the correct setting. Turn power off and insert the MASH game cartridge.

TO BEGIN:

Turn the power on. Use the Game Select lever—and Difficulty Switches to choose a play level. Press the Game reset lever and get ready to ship out to the Korean front!

THE OBJECTIVE:

You are Hawkeye Pierce, Chief Medical Surgeon of the 4077th MASH. Your responsibilities include rescuing injured men from the battlefield, performing surgery in the operating room, or, in an alternative game, picking up Colonel Potter's skydiving medics. You pilot your chopper low through the trees, avoiding shells fired at you from a North Korean tank. After picking up the medics or wounded and rushing them back to the hospital, the pressure really starts to get heavy. Time is running out for the injured men and you must operate. You have to work fast. You are competing with your fellow surgeons, either B.J. Hunnicut, Trapper John McIntyre or Frank Burns.

THE CONTROLS:

Tilt the joystick forward, backward, left and right to maneuver your chopper around the screen. Use the red trigger button to start games. Once in the operating room the joystick is used to maneuver your surgical instruments around the screen.

DIFFICULTY SWITCHES:

In position B the computer (Frank Burns) will get dumber the farther he gets ahead.

RIGHT DIFFICULTY: Position A—Right joystick player begins game with 0 points.

Position B—Right joystick player begins game with 99 points.

The right joystick player is the computer in 1 player games.

CHALLENGER VARIATION:

With the left difficulty switch in position A the challenger mode is entered for 1 player games. Frank Burns will play at maximum intensity in this mode. Also Frank Burns will receive 8 points per second during the bonus surgery round.

Whenever your difficulty switch is in position A (1 player or 2 player games) your opponent will receive the point value of the shrapnel if it touches the patient while you are removing it.

PLAY LEVELS:

There are 8 play levels (or games) in MASH. Each game consists of several "rounds." A round ends when a certain number of men have been rescued. Between each round surgery is performed in the operating room. The exception is in games 7 and 8 which are devoted totally to the surgery game. The games are won by the first player to reach 999 points.

WELCOME TO KOREA

GAME 1—In this game you, Hawkeye, must rescue more men than your computer opponent, Frank Burns. With your joystick, you maneuver through the forest of trees and pick up men by touching them with your helicopter. After rescuing 5 men your chopper will appear overloaded and you will not be able to take on more wounded until you have dropped them off at your MASH base. Every time you return to base the point value of each man rescued is increased by 2 points. The maximum point value for a rescued man is 25 points. The North Korean tank at the bottom of the screen will chase the chopper which has the most points, and will launch projectiles which you must dodge. If a chopper collides with a projectile it flutters to the ground, where it is rescued by Klinger in the ambulance. The round is over after a total of 30 men are rescued. The airplane has no function in this game.

Between each round a bonus round of surgery is performed in the operating room where you must remove as many pieces of shrapnel as you can in 15 seconds. Shrapnel must not touch the patient. If it does, the bonus surgery round is over. In the normal variation (difficulty B) Frank Burns receives no points in the bonus surgery round. In the challenger variation (difficulty A) Frank Burns receives 8 points per second plus the point value of the shrapnel if it touches the patient.

(For more details on surgery see games 7 and 8.)

GAME 2—This game is identical to game 1 except the 2 players play against each other. One player uses the left joystick, while the other uses the right joystick. In the operating room each player gets 15 seconds to remove as many pieces of shrapnel as possible. (For more details on surgery see games 7 and 8.)

COLONEL POTTER

GAME 3—When we last left Colonel Potter he and his skydiving medics had just jumped from a plane without parachutes. Your mission is to rescue them before they reach the ground. You maneuver your helicopter around the trees in order to rescue more medics than your computer opponent Frank Burns. Each man rescued is worth a variable number of points. The closer your chopper is to the ground when a medic is rescued the more points you receive (points vary from 5 at the top to 20 at the bottom). The North Korean tank at the bottom of the screen will chase the chopper who has the most points, and will launch projectiles which you must dodge. The round is over when a total of 40 medics have been rescued.

Between each round a bonus round of surgery is performed in the operating room. You have 15 seconds to remove as many pieces of shrapnel as possible. Again Frank Burns will receive no points in the normal variation. However he will receive points in the challenger variation. (See games 7 and 8 for more details.)

GAME 4—This game is identical to game 3 except that 2 players play against each other. One player uses the left joystick, while the other uses the right joystick. When a round ends surgery is performed in the operating room. Each player has 15 seconds to remove as many pieces of shrapnel as possible.

CEASE FIRE

GAME 5—The shooting has stopped but the wounded keep on coming. Playing this game is similar to playing game 1 except that the tank has stopped launching projectiles. You also have smaller helicopters for ease in rescuing the injured men.

GAME 6—This game is identical to game 5 except that 2 players play against each other, one using the left joystick while the other uses the right joystick.

O.R. (OPERATING ROOM)

GAME 7—You're in the operating room where you must remove bits of shrapnel from an injured man using your extractor. You play against Frank Burns who receives 6 points per second. Each piece of shrapnel is worth a varying number of points depending on the difficulty of its removal. If the shrapnel touches your patient while it is being removed your turn is ended. Point values range from 15 to 80. In the challenger variation (left difficulty switch in position A), Frank Burns receives the point value of any piece of shrapnel that touches the patient.

GAME 8—This game is similar to game 7 except that each player has 15 seconds in which to remove as many pieces of shrapnel as possible. When his turn ends, the next player's turn starts. And in the challenger variation (difficulty switch in position A) your opponent receives points if the shrapnel touches the man while it is being removed.

HINTS FROM DALLAS NORTH...

In the 'Welcome to Korea' and 'Cease Fire' games, try to plan your routes so they require no needless detours. Rescue a man on one pass, and try to force your opponent to cover as much ground as possible. In the two player versions the player who rescues the last guy gets to start first in the operating room, a big advantage when scores get close to 999 points.

In the operating room games, a gentle tap of the joystick will yield much better results in moving the extractor than a brute force approach. And any part of the extractor can be used to remove shrapnel, which comes in handy in a few of the tight corners.

In the Colonel Potter games quick reflexes are more important than strategy. And the tank stops shooting when someone is being rescued by the ambulance so you can be more aggressive in rescuing medics during this time. And notice that Frank Burns' helicopter is able to fly through trees, while you must fly around them.

This advantage must be compensated for by superior strategy and intelligence.
